MUSIC OF THE SPHERES.

Listeners of London commercial radio have recently been subjected to adverts for a new book about the Majestic incident where "Debris from an alien spaceship was littered accross an area of New Mexico..." DO NOT BE FOOLED - Our toe-tapping ravers from the solar system Epsilon Bootis assure us that most extra-terrestrials have boycotted Earth as an unfriendly venue. The Majestic book is another attempt to dump American UFOlogy (i.e. Extra Terrestrial Hypothesis - read 'paranoia') onto unsuspecting Europeans. Aren't we drifting enough into insanity with the present rise of fundamentalism and nationalism without pandering to perverse human desires for salvation or terrorisation from aliens?

NVSD - CAMPAIGN FOR NON-VIOLENT SILLY DANCING

Violence has taken away John Lennon from us, whose message was "all you need is love". Violence has been used by the state to supress the house movement - cops attacking parties with heavy equipment. Within the music scene, macho security teams often provoke rather than contain violence. Female security teams are preferable. Some bands have experimented with violence and have encouraged their followers by example The Campaign for Non-Violent Silly Dancing hopes to love away all violence and encourage people to have loads of fun.

BEAUTIFUL DESTRUCTION.

At night when all the chaos of the day
Receeds into a murmer in the distance
I close my eyes and listen to the way
The wind blows free accross this barren landscape

On the hill we saw them as they came
A sordid mess of ego and deception
I close my eyes and listen once again
To the never ending beautiful destruction.

LOVE HEALER.

There's something in my head,
Don't know what it can be, but it's not me.

They said it would help me, but I don't know,
They said it would help them to keep control,
I don't need anyone to control my mind,
To try and regulate what's inside.

Love Healer...we need you today,
Love Healer...we need you to come our way,
Love Healer...we need you to let us play.
Love is coming your way.

Calling All Venues! The MN now have a staggering number of bands onit's lists and would like to share information and facilities with other venues. We are organising a multi-benifit event at the George Robey on Monday the 16th April. Come and check us out. It's an all day event snowcasing over 12 bands associated with the network. We also have a few choice demos available and plan an MN compilation tape. See next issue for details.

COSMIC VIEWPOINT.

Ever since the arrival of the "pop cultures" in the 1950's, violence in and around music has existed. From the start music has had to fight to survive against the backlash of red-neck attitudes. Early R&B and jazz had to be underground in order to exist. Only With the emergence of the likes of Elvis Presley, Buddy Holly etc. did the music scene gain a foothold on the streets, though this recording industry was in masonic hands. Even so, music fans became the next target for red-neck abuse.

Into the late 50's and then the 60's music culture genarated a lot of cult violence, Ted's Vs Rockers,Mod's Vs Beatniks Skins Vs Hippies etc. Divide and conquer, some rat!

Violence has always been around the music scene in one form or another. Some bands were party to this by playing with violent energy, eg, Rolling Stones, Pink Fairies; then into punk and skin head bands. Even today some bands still play around with violence of both the mental and physical kind.

Today the violence scene around music can still be seen, though it has changed. There is a huge red-neck move to quosh music in all areas. At present the House Party Movement IS being severely suppressed by a violent minded police force. So much so, that the HPM have had to fight back against a police force that uses full riot gear and tatics,for the right to party. The same attitudes are used by police to prevent festival goers from being festive.

In the 70's and 80's the peace movement had grown to the stage where red-neck barriers were being destroyed world wide.

The use of violence by male security teams at gigs is part of this move to quosh music, byusing the hype of macho authority. Female security teams would be much better.

With all this violence coming at music we must remember John Lennon's film "Yellow Submarine". Do you remember the blue meannies and the big hand of authority came to thier senses after everyone through Sgt. Peppers Music came together and loved and sang till all was happy.

Come together NOW, LOVE is all we need!

Music is the food of love, let our food be clean,
all together NOWW

With the formation of the Campaign for Non Violent Silly Dancing,hopefully all violence can be LOVED away forever with music.

NEWS AND VIEWS.

Bizarre State have released an 8-track tape "You Got a Problem" ?, available at Bizarre State gigs. Thunderdogs have a 3-track tape out,

The Enthropy Guild have an interesting sound (spacey) and have achieved a professional sound on a demo. MN compilation tape is proceeding. Thanks for the tapes. The Dragons Kiss come from Exeter and attempt an affectionate pastiche of spacey folk guitar rock. Love the name. Dean Carter is brill and well on the way to forging a career as singer songwriter and all round nice guy. Very interesting stuff Tuesday's Sin. We are talking original material described as the Buzzcocks meet REM. A find for the 90's? Klook's Kleek, the legendary 60's R&B club,at the Railway Hotel West Hampstead NW6. Yeh, check this out!

Gypsey and Daniel come up with some soothing soporific tunes. Good to wind down to after a hard day's work on the typewriter..

THC are a bunch of looney Norwegians, post punk enthusiasts who stray into head and house music. they have asked us to put them in touch with people involved in the free festival movement in this country cause they want to play at Stonehenge. Any chance of a UK tour?

Whirl-Y-Gig is back in bussiness, up and running every Wednes day night between 7 and 11pm at Old Hampstead Town Hall, Belsize Park, NW3. Wednesday nights are confirmed until Wed. 30th May, and Whirl-Y-Gig will also hold dance nights every other Saturday from 10th March until June 2nd. Saronya!

Ozric Tenticles and the renouned Thunderdogs are touring extensivly in July. Both have been in the studio recently, and the T,dogs have an album out in June.

ODDS AND SODS.

Terminal Cheesecake have split up. The Devoted Men have reformed. Traverty have changed thier name to 5AM Dreamland. Sons of the Desert release a record on April the 14th. The Dave Howard Singers will be supporting The House of Love at the Royal Albert Hall on March the 9th. Ex-members of Stump and Microdisney have formed a band called yod and will play with USMF at the Robey on 7th of March. Earthzone Records will release a new RDF LP in April. Thier compadres BTF release an album in May. An Earthzone compilation LP called "Scorched Earth" is due out later on this summer.

There will be an Ambulance Workers benifit at the Albany Empire, Deptford, around the 12-14 March. Test Department are headlining the bill. The organisers await confirmatoin from The Band of Holy Joy. Keep an eye on the press for details of date and line-up.

THE GLOBAL WE CRISIS

Human societies can be viewed as systems within which the individual can exist in a multiplicity of well-defined roles:the successful executive, the girl about town,the trendy greenie, etc. etc.In a materialist world the predominant values encourage a development of strong individuality within pre-selected roles. This makes humans easier to control via the old method of divide and conquer.The tool of control is money and self-interest. This applies both on individual level and on group level - for a cohesive social group such as an army regiment or a local rotary club is useful to the government.

Most people face an identity crisis sometime in their lives,usually at an early age.'who am I and what the hell am I doing here' is a thought-feeling which is eventually answered by the unfolding events - the enquirer ends up working in a bank and supporting Arsenal FC.

Our present society does not encourage the development of creative and revolutionary roles. The cream of the young scientists iswhisked off by the army and the multinationals.The best artists receive a weekly pittance from the state and are encouraged to join SHELL and design ads and air-conditioned office blocks. Top musicians are absorbed by the music industry which attempts to cultivate radical imagery in order to win over the talent and sell it later. The visionary, the revolutionist, the artist and the poet live not in the world but in spite of it -there are no career opportunities for anarchists and prisons and mental institutions are there to absorb those who do not learn the lesson of conforming to the available roles. The emergence of groups of creative people is particularly dangerous to the status quo: whereas the odd individual can be 'dealt with' by the state, a group or a network of like-minded people threaten the system,particularly if they are seen to be having a good time,and their emergent cultural identity can encourage others.

Each human psyche contains unlimited potential - the elusive 'factor X' is present in each of us -and even the bank clerk, in his lunchtime daydream can occasionally glimpse a new world and a new'himself' in it.

The revolution of the nineties is nothing more and nothing less than the act of bringing out the poet,the artist,the revolutionary in each and everyone of us as individuals and then to join up with like-minded others to create a cultural new identity strong enough to withstand the assaults of the state and to overcome its bankrupt value system

Since a society is nothing more than a collection of individuals, an individual identity crisis is a sympton of the global situation. Viewed by an alien from space, the human profile is one of greed,violence and planetary incompetence - and rather boring. The artists of today are proclaiming a new renaissance: a world in which the visionary, the poet, the writer and the musician are made visible and have a big say in the running of day to day affairs and global policy. We are the people rising up everywhere - and the time has come to take over.

STONEHENGE NINETY CAMPAIGN

c/o 99 TORRIANO AVE
LONDON N.W.5.

A personal message from Rick Hope
Suppression breeds sedition!Are you a seditionary?If so an innocent family of stones living in a magic circle in Wiltshire,England, needs your help. The Stonehenge Ninety Campaign has launched an international appeal this year to get world support for the sixteenth free festival this solstice. Be a seditionary - its easy once you start - send a SAE for hot information which will make you a part of the changing universe. Organise a fundraiser in your area - send news and positive info.
PS remember the National Nude Day - 21 June
Press Review: According to the Evening Standard, 20 Feb: Marchers converge on Stonehenge from all over the Country, linking up with anti-war activists in a blocade of Nato bases. Acts from europe will awaken the countryside and jugglers,firedancers and acrobats will astound the sleepy farmers.
Public Meeting: 15 March at Salisbury City Hall: For and Against.Be there.
Next Campaign meeting at the Torriano: March 7th.
Benefits needed - bands and venues please contact the Campaign

STOP PRESS.
The Ozrics/Cardiacs/Haroldjuana gig in Amsterdam scheduled 3rd March is cancelled.
John Perkins, sitar player, hopefully will play Stonehenge.

PULLENS REPORT.
Whats green and has a tit on its head? A policeman at the Pullens Centre eviction. June 10th is the aniversary of the Pullens evictions which were sucessfully resisted- they are still there. June 10th is the grand re-opening of the Pullens Centre-lots of bands and fun, be there!
